

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An improved dough for preparing bakery products is made by substituting a bacterial xylanase for the usual fungal xylanase, resulting in a dough which is less sticky. Suitable bacterial xylanases and xylanase inhibitors are identified.